The article titled “Accidental Fatality by Dead Coconut Tree” was published in the journal [Vol 23 (2), 2014]. But inadvertently the figures were missing during printing process. Hereby we are publishing those figures.
